Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-10,32-39,55-59, drawn to a method of preparing a stable formulation comprising a metal compound, an alcohol and ACE inhibitor, classified in class 514, subclasses 306,310.
- II. Claims 11-30,40-53,60-69, drawn to a stable formulation comprising a metal compound, an alcohol, and ACE inhibitor, classified in class 514, subclasses 306,310.
- III. Claims 31,54,70, drawn to a method of treating heart disease comprising applying a composition to a subject comprising a metal compound, an alcohol, and ACE inhibitor, classified in class 514, subclasses 306,310.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product made can be made by different process such as combining all three chemicals and mixing until a clear solution appears.

Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case quinapril can be used to treat inflammation as well as heart disease. See USAN 2005090553.

Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions have different mode of operation, e.g., invention I comprises steps on how to make a composition, whereas invention III comprises steps on how to administer the composition to successfully treat heart disease.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Attorney K. Whitney on 4/2/07 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103 (a) of the other invention.

Applicant is also being requested to make an election of a specific metal compound, specific alcohol, and specific ACE inhibitor for the group elected.
